NMAA is pleased to announce the NINTH year of our Farmer-to-Farmer training program, Los Sembradores!

Training includes: farm & business planning, season extension, soil health, irrigation methods, use & maintenance of equipment, planting & harvesting techniques, organic pest management, value added processing, seed saving, remedio making, traditional foods, leadership training & participation in NMAA events!

Our program is run on-site at Chicoyole Farm in Chamisal, NM - apprentices are expected to have reliable transport to the farm site.

Preference is given to applicants from historic acequia communities who have access to a home garden or farm space to implement what they learn during the program.
